County waste department to provide free green landscaping virtual class on Saturday

The Riverside County Department of Waste Resources is excited to bring a new class online: Green Landscaping. This virtual class is offered to Riverside County residents for the first time on Saturday, August 28, from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. Attendance is free, and the class can be accessed on any computer, tablet, or smartphone.

Green landscaping – also referred to as sustainable landscaping – is an easy and cost-efficient way to be environmental in your own space. From learning about Riverside County’s native plants, to watering effectively, this class can answer your questions about closing the loop on green waste and utilizing your green space efficiently. Green landscapes are helpful for residents and businesses alike. Join us and learn strategies to practice a sustainable lifestyle. Attendees will receive Riverside County-specific resources and valuable links to implement a green landscape.

Pre-registration is not necessary--simply visit www.rcwaste.org/classes for more information and follow this class link: <https://rivco.webex.com/rivco/j.php?MTID=mf9f3acf8b546b7825cb06911aedeaa69>
